bar tender, struck her on the jaw with his fist and when she fell crushed her face and skull with his boots. After his arrest and arrangements he asked that he be permitted to plead guilty and that his sentence be death on the gallows. His desire to die was sentenced to death was gratified by Judge Whitaker, the trial judge. While awaiting trial Worth made five attempts to commit suicide. After arriving at the penitentiary here, wearying of waiting for the time set for his execution, the murderer wove a rope

Monarch's Spying Discounted.

One of the favorite pastimes of Emperor Menelik of Abyssinia is to mount a tower of observation, which he has constructed for the purpose, and watch his subjects going about their duties in the streets and open spaces through a powerful telescope. One disadvantage of this method of spying is that it is perfectly well known to the people themselves, who consequently do not give their "king of kings" much opportunity for discovering any deed worthy of punishment.

SENIOR PLAY A GREAT SUCCESS

SECOND NIGHT OF COMMENCEMENT WEEK—MUCH ENJOYED.

AUGUSTIN THOMAS' COMEDY

In Four Acts Creditably Handled by Cast—Graduation Exercises Will Be Held This Evening.

"THE PLAYS THE THING."

In the presentation of their class play at the high school building last evening members of the class of 1910 scored a decided hit with seven hundred and more people who attended the performance. The drama was "Seven-Twenty-Eight, or Casting the Boomerang," a four-act comedy by Augustin Thomas, the great New York producer and playwright. The play was one of the best presented and most popular with the audience that have been given by students at the school, outbursts of hearty applause from the audience being frequent.

The theme of the play is in the lines of the leading male character, Courtney Corliss. In his statement that everyone commits one great folly in their life, the results of which return as a boomerang to the one who commits the deed. The plot is worked out to prove this statement and the situations brought about in the carrying out of the plot are replete with fun.

The main plot hinges on the efforts of Courtney Corliss, a gentleman of leisure, to win Floa, the daughter of Laurence Barges. He fell in love with a portrait of her in an art gallery and set about to find and win her. He learns her name and residence and discovers that the artist after painting the portrait has changed the color of the maiden's tresses, substituting ebony locks for the golden hair of the model. His ardor is increased and although his suit does not seem to be favored he wins her. At the same time that Corliss is seeking to win Floa, Signor Palmiro Tamborino, representative of a lord is looking for the original of the photograph, apparently that the lord may pay court to her, but as it later develops, merely to purchase the doll which she was holding when the artist painted her portrait. The efforts of Mrs. Barges, Floa's mother, to arrange a match with the English lord, and to make a literary genius of her husband, whose verses, which prove to have been taken from the works of great authors, captivated her at the time of her courtship, causes much of the comedy in the play. The deceptions of Barges in allowing her to believe he was the author of the verses, prove a boomerang to him, when his wife discovers the mistake.

Miss Mae Granger, in the role of Floa, gave a splendid portrayal of the character, correcting the fault of indelicateness after the first act. Matt Land Palmer, in the role of Courtney Corliss, was equally as good. The character of Mrs. Hypatia Barges, who in her efforts to carry out her pet child's "becomes a petty tyrant to her family, was very well taken by Miss Clara Schwartz, and Howard Sailer was exceptionally good as Mr. Laurence Barges. The peculiarities of the Italian, Signor Palmiro Tamborino, which were mimicked to perfection, was the clever work of Francis Greene; Russell Wilkinson, in the part of Professor Gaskin, who has undertaken to publish Barges' verses in his magazine, "took off" the attenuated, over-hungry publisher exactly as the author pictured him. Miss Mildred Doty as Dora Hollislock, Mrs. Barges' daughter, and Glen McCarthy as Paul, her husband, carried out their parts excellently. Minor character parts well depicted were: Jessie, the maid, who has yearnings for the pleasures of the dance, by Miss Gladys Rutter; Jobbins, Hollislock's farmer, by Emmett Roberts; and by Stewart Williams as a postman.

Made was furnished before the opening of the play and between acts by the high school orchestra.

This evening the Graduation Night program will be given and the graduates will receive their diplomas, marking the close of the commencement exercises. The presentation will be made by Dr. S. B. Buckmaster, president of the Board of Education. The final number is the class song, composed by Miss Clara Hodggett.

Tomorrow night the class of 1910 will be welcomed to the ranks of the alumni of the school at the annual alumni banquet, the new recruits being entertained by the graduates of previous years. Following the banquet a program will be given and the rest of the evening spent socially.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pearl, who reside on a farm on the Madison road five and a half miles northwest of the city, celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their wedding with a party at their home last evening, at which about fifty guests from the vicinity and from Janesville were present. When the legal right to the building is assured, the work of preparing the lodge rooms will be rushed to completion as quickly as possible.

CLASS PLAY GIVEN BY EDGERTON PUPILS

"Merchant of Venice Up-to-date" Enacted by Members of Graduated Class Last Night.

Edgerton, June 16.—The Seniors gave their play last evening which was a very happy "take off" of the play, "The Merchant of Venice Up-to-date." The football game was continuously realistic. The play was followed by a farce entitled, "Tel On Parlo French." The seniors did wonderfully well in both plays which were well accepted by the audience.

ALBERT DORSEY WAS TOO WELL SUPPLIED WITH BASEBALL MITTS

Alleged to Have Exhibited Collection of Six to George Casey—Arrested Last Night.

Officers have been looking for an opportunity to nab the elusive Albert Dorsey since Friday evening when he is alleged to have exhibited six baseball mitts to George Casey and to have endeavored to negotiate the sale of one of them. With the assistance of Watchman George Palmer, who was not supposed of being in league against Whitey's crack sprinter, was finally lured into camp last evening. Mr. Casey did not buy the mitts sold to him but appropriated it, telling Albert that it was stolen property and advising him to get out of the place. Green paint on the back of it seemed to indicate that the owner was a professional player whose outfit was packed with that of the rest of the team. Albert says that he got the glove in Watertown and that he did not show any others to Mr. Casey—just invented a little yarn about having five others. Unless the player who lost the property can be located and produced as a witness, Dorsey will probably not be prosecuted.

The Art League will have a picnic at Mrs. Bure's place, up the river, on Wednesday. Departure at 10:00 a. m. Don't forget your dishes.

At four o'clock Wednesday afternoon Miss Hulda M. Rauch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rauch, 506 South Academy street, was united in marriage to Thomas A. Miller of Milwaukee. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Chris. Koerner in St. Paul's German Lutheran church in the presence of friends and relatives of the contracting couples. Miss Amanda Bentka of West Bend was maid of honor and Miss Emma Duges of this city was the bridesmaid, while the groom was attended by Fred Rauch of Chicago as best man, and John Miller of Marion acted as usher. Immediately following the church ceremony a bounteous wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's parents. The happy couple were the recipients of many wedding gifts and after a short wedding trip will be at home to their friends at their new home, 759 Buffum street, Milwaukee. The groom is in the office of the American Leather and Hides company in Milwaukee.

ENTERTAINED AT A RAINBOW LUNCHEON

Mrs. Norman L. Carlo Was Hostess at Unique Entertainment Given For Miss Carlo Yesterday.

Mrs. Norman L. Carlo was hostess to a company of twenty-eight ladies yesterday at one of the most novel and enjoyable of the many entertainments that have been given in honor of Miss Josephine Carlo. In all of the decorations the scheme of the rainbow, from which the luncheon took its name, was carried out to the minutest detail, and the effect was both bewildering and beautiful. Myriads of varicolored bells, with bows of satin ribbon to match, hung from the ceiling and the same varied hues reappeared in the huge bouquet of roses, Canterbury bells, and other flowers used as a centerpiece for the table; in the little individual baskets, with blossoms tied to the handles which flanked the bride and maid of honor souvenir place cards; in the bows of ribbon worn by the young ladies who acted as waitresses; in the leis, and cakes, and candies; and afterwards at the bridge tables, each of which had its own peculiar shade with cards and pencils and score cards to match. The prize for the high score, a box of fancy handkerchiefs with colored borders, was won by Miss Mae Rodwick and the consolation award by Mrs. W. H. Jeffris.

EDUCATIONAL DISLOYALTY.

The following dispatch from Des Moines, Iowa, indicates that political economy, "as she is taught" in the colleges, is a dangerous doctrine, threatened so badly with disloyalty that one of its chief exponents does not hesitate to attack the chief magistrate of the nation and sow the seeds of disloyalty and unrest.

The Wisconsin university was severely censured, not long ago, for harboring Emma Goldman, but this man Laughlin represents a type of cultured American citizen, more dangerous to the life of the republic than the disciples of anarchy.

It is an old saying that it takes a boy ten years to recover from the theoretical influences of college life. If these influences are to be still further contaminated by melting disrespect for the President, it is about time to call a halt and see where we are.

The boys of the colleges are many of them first voters. They lack settled convictions on many questions, but it is due to them to send them out into life armed with patriotism and loyalty. President Taft is their president and they owe him allegiance, however much insurgency may claim to the contrary. The dispatch follows:

"President Taft was held up as a failure before the graduating class of Drake university today by Prof. J. Lawrence Laughlin of the University of Chicago, who delivered the commencement address. He is head professor of political economy at the Midway institution.

"The address, the subject of which was 'Leadership,' was a criticism of the President and his administration, and the graduating class was told to steer clear of men in whom such great trust had been placed, but who had failed in their stewardship.

"Former President Roosevelt was lauded as a real leader and held up as an example. Prof. Laughlin contrasted the lives and administrations of the two presidents, declaring that the one was a tremendous success, while the other was as big a failure.

"Well Intentioned Failure."

"A tolerant, weak, well-intentioned failure" was the description of President Taft given by the Chicago professor. He had the greatest opportunity for leadership, Mr. Laughlin said, of any president who had entered the White House, but had failed through want of moral courage.

"The interests" were frequently referred to throughout the address of Prof. Laughlin, and their influence on President Taft, he said, was the cause of the failure of his administration.

Contracting Roosevelt and Taft, Prof. Laughlin said:

"On the one hand is the man who won the hearts of the people by taking them into his confidence, by standing out strongly against selfish and corrupting interests, and by aligning himself with the people on all questions. He had the wisdom to find out what the people wanted, and the moral strength to carry out their wishes. Special interests had no voice in his administration.

Sees Sharp Contrast.

"On the other hand is a man who stands out in sharp contrast. Possibly no greater opportunity for leadership ever confronted one man, but this one failed to grasp it. He failed to seize the opportunity to become the leader of a nation, an opportunity which he never will have again.

"He is weak in moral courage and lacks the voice of the nation's interests. He is a tolerable, weak, well-intentioned failure. When he entered upon the office he did so with a public waited anxious and eager to accept him as leader, but he failed to respond to them."

CURTAINMENT.

An eastern dispatch says:

"The Northern Pacific has been called in construction gangs and has stopped most of its extension and improvement work in North Dakota and Montana.

"This is an outcome of the railroad conference at Washington last week. The Northern Pacific had suffered more than most roads and, like the Atchafalaya, was depending on increases in freight rates to justify the expenditure of millions of dollars for new lines and other improvements. President Elliot was greatly disappointed in the summary action taken by the department of justice, although the Northern Pacific was not directly concerned, and a conference with leading interests in New York decided him to order a general curtailment of expenditures.

"The curtailment on the Northern Pacific is not intended to be permanent, but the rapid increase in operating expenses, outstripping the additions to gross earnings, has cut into net earnings to a point where the company probably felt that it was no longer justified in proceeding with its comprehensive improvement plans.

"The road has been doing a great deal of new building and rehabilitation work, the stopping of which will lighten current expenses. There have been added more than 400 miles of new track since 1907."

STAY BY FAIRCHILD.

This talk about another republican convention to endorse Governor Davidson for re-election is a farce pure and simple, and will not be seriously considered by any man who has the welfare of the party at heart.

The Milwaukee conference, recently held, was a harmony conference, and when it adjourned without recognizing the claims of any candidate, the compact was sealed for a reorganized and re-energized party.

In the interests of harmony the efforts to induce Governor Davidson to enter the field at this late date should be abandoned. Senator Fairchild has acted in good faith and when he decided to be a candidate, he had no thought of Governor Davidson as a rival.

He represents loyalty and harmony and is the only candidate in the field who has declared himself on those principles. He is entitled to the hearty support of all loyal republicans.

The blind people of the state are not the most miserable, as was evidenced by the large number in attendance at the alumni meeting yesterday. They were happy, and a large majority of them self-supporting. The state school, under the management of Supt. Brown, is in a prosperous condition. He is the right man in the right place and his services should be retained as long as he can be induced to carry on the work.

As an all round grafter, the democratic ward leader, Wilson, who sold himself to Lorimer for $1,000 and an interest in the Jack-pot, and later to the Chicago Tribune for $3,500, is a king bee in the profession. He was in the market for money, and he got it going and coming.

The railroads have adopted the policy of retrenchment, and half a dozen western lines have laid off 10,000 men during the past week. Too much regulation is the cause.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon's 90 degree weather has arrived and an early adjournment of congress may be expected.

Something out of the usual has happened at Racine, where Postmaster Gittines has actually asked to have a successor appointed in order that he may retire from office and return to private business. And the salary is $5,700 per year!—Oshkosh Northwestern.

Impassioned Prom.

Mr. Taft advises girls to marry for love and not money, and little is said of it; but if Roosevelt had recommended the same he would have used such an array of verbal pyrotechnics that the fire department would have had to be called.—Milwaukee Journal.

Keeps It Working.

The expectation now is that the House postal savings bank will glide through without serious obstruction. The Republican party is committed to the movement not only for the purpose of encouraging thrift but also for the purpose of keeping small savings out of stockholders' and creditors' and in general circulation.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Between Two Fires.

"The interests" blame Wickersham for the assaults on Standard Oil, the Tobacco trust and now, for the attack on the House postal savings bank. The increased railway rates and "insurance" in congress accuse him as an ally of big business. It is one of the comedies of the political times—but not for Wickersham.—Madison Journal.

Where's Janesville's Bid?

The city of Des Moines is evidently well pleased with its experiment in government by commission. At any rate it has arranged to hold "an exposition of municipal administration" as exemplified by the Des Moines plan. The occasion is the laying of the corner stone of the municipal building Tuesday, June 14. Invitations have been sent to sister cities in several adjoining states and there is reason to believe that it will be well worth while for these cities to accept them. If the delegates sent are open for instruction and are determined to learn all they can about this form of municipal government, the Des Moines plan has made good and has won over practically all who originally opposed the commission form of government.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

AN HONEST MAN.

A great friend of the world passed away when Samuel L. Clemens died. He helped us by spreading everywhere his atmosphere of good cheer. They used to picture the states with bright aurora about their heads. Mark Twain's aura was no small flame just lighting up his well known features. The plumes that was about him shed its light around the world.

I tell you, to make this a livable world for the people who live in it is a divine thing.

How we lesser lights have always longed for Mark Twain's gracious gift of brightening and sweetening human life!

He was so human.

There was no barb in that spontaneous humor. Notably it may be said of him that he has "written no line that dying, he would wish to blot." And if you read him at any length you always felt your better nature stirred.

Why?

Why did he enoble and sweeten our lives along with his bubbling mirthfulness? Because down deep he was serious minded. Below his humor was sensibility and kindness. His humor was incidental, a sort of byproduct.

Underneath he was fine spirited, honest minded, serious intentioned, humane, lovable.

That finer spirit of his blossomed early in the sweet story "The Prince and the Pauper" and later it flowered in his serious study of Joan of Arc.

What a kindly, quaint, bright spirit abode with us and then went away!

Much has been written of Mr. Clemens, and much will be written, but one thing must be pointed out and repeated again and again, one thing that revealed the innate soul stuff of the man.

It was his chivalric honesty.

When in 1895 the publishing firm of which he was chief owner failed Mark Twain set to work like another Walter Scott to pay his indebtedness.

Every fiber of his fine spirit scorned to take advantage of the bankrupt laws.

And how we all followed him over the land and across the seas as he went lecturing to earn the money! And we were nearly as proud as he was when it was all paid.

That was Mark Twain's greatest gift to his generation.

APPOINTED MINISTER TO LIBERIA

Dr. William D. Crum.

Washington, D. C.—Dr. William D. Crum, a prominent negro of Charleston, S. C., has been nominated by the president to be minister-resident and consul-general at Monrovia, Liberia. It is understood that no opposition will be made to his confirmation. In fact, it is believed southern senators will urge expedition as he will be going to a negro community.

Dr. Crum achieved fame when President Roosevelt appointed him collector of customs at Charleston on January 5, 1903. Senator Tillman led a fierce fight against the confirmation on the sole ground that he was a negro. No charges were preferred against him and he was admitted to be a man of integrity and high standing. Action was prevented until January 6, 1905, or one day more than two years. During that period he served under a series of recess appointments.

President Roosevelt, on December 8, 1908, named Dr. Crum for another term. Early in January of the following year President-elect Taft made speeches in the south in which he gave assurance that negroes would not be given federal offices in antagonism to popular protests.

Senator Tillman believed it would be a good plan to test Mr. Taft's announced policy and for that reason he again held up the confirmation of Dr. Crum. The special session of the senate following the inauguration of Mr. Taft expired March 14, 1909, and Dr. Crum had not been confirmed. It was then squarely up to President Taft to stand by his speeches and name somebody else. He did so and designated Edward W. Durant, Jr., a white man, as collector, announcing that Dr. Crum had resigned.

The special session of the senate following the inauguration of Mr. Taft expired March 14, 1909, and Dr. Crum had not been confirmed. It was then squarely up to President Taft to stand by his speeches and name somebody else. He did so and designated Edward W. Durant, Jr., a white man, as collector, announcing that Dr. Crum had resigned.

CHRIS WAS upon this whirling PREMARURE, sphere, and wipes away a phantom tear. Perhaps he says, to old Cabot: "Those near-explorers down below are drawing many golden beams by writing for the magazines, and some are knighted by the king, and all are cutting grass by jinks. They're homed to beat the band, have worshippers on every hand, and what they did is no account; they found a pole or climbed a mount. Oh, jumping ginger, when I think of how I sailed across the drink, and wrestled with a granchy crew, and found a land that no one knew, these cheap explorers down below seem pretty punk to me. Cabot!

And when I sailed back home again did I receive the praise of men? Did old Don Hampton break his neck to load me with a big fat check? Did England's monarch take his sword and make of me a blooming lord? Did medals come from foreign lands, and ribbons blue from princely hands? Not on your whiskers, friend Cabot! My name was Mud, I'd have you know; they chucked me in a prison-trap, as though I was that Johnstun chap. This fact's as plain as yonder moon—I lived four hundred years too soon!"

APPOINTED MINISTER TO LIBERIA

Dr. William D. Crum.

Washington, D. C.—Dr. William D. Crum, a prominent negro of Charleston, S. C., has been nominated by the president to be minister-resident and consul-general at Monrovia, Liberia. It is understood that no opposition will be made to his confirmation. In fact, it is believed southern senators will urge expedition as he will be going to a negro community.

Dr. Crum achieved fame when President Roosevelt appointed him collector of customs at Charleston on January 5, 1903. Senator Tillman led a fierce fight against the confirmation on the sole ground that he was a negro. No charges were preferred against him and he was admitted to be a man of integrity and high standing. Action was prevented until January 6, 1905, or one day more than two years. During that period he served under a series of recess appointments.

President Roosevelt, on December 8, 1908, named Dr. Crum for another term. Early in January of the following year President-elect Taft made speeches in the south in which he gave assurance that negroes would not be given federal offices in antagonism to popular protests.

Senator Tillman believed it would be a good plan to test Mr. Taft's announced policy and for that reason he again held up the confirmation of Dr. Crum. The special session of the senate following the inauguration of Mr. Taft expired March 14, 1909, and Dr. Crum had not been confirmed. It was then squarely up to President Taft to stand by his speeches and name somebody else. He did so and designated Edward W. Durant, Jr., a white man, as collector, announcing that Dr. Crum had resigned.

The Tyranny of Yesterday

There are some people over whom yesterday tyrannizes. That is to say, they shrink from doing today anything that differs in the least from what was done in the past.

It is so in Dentistry.

Some people still send their children to have their aching teeth extracted.

When the spirit of today is to save teeth.

Take time to have the teeth preserved.

A dentist can save most teeth if you consult him in time.

FATALLY INJURED WHILE SWITCHING; DIES IN DEPOT

William Helms, Former Janesville Boy, Caught Between Cars at Walworth—Died Before Reaching Hospital Here.

William Helms, formerly of this city, but who for the past five years has lived with his parents in Rockford, while coupling some cars at Walworth this morning at 11:30 was caught between the humpers and crushed so badly that he died in the St. Paul passenger station in this city this afternoon at 1:05.

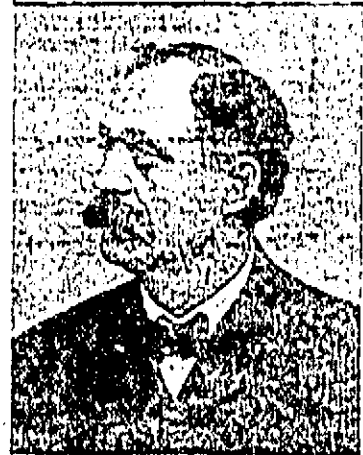

William Helms, who is a son of Alexander Helms, an engineer on the Chicago and Northwestern Division of the C. & N. W. road, was employed as a brakeman on the same division as his father and it was while working in this capacity this morning that he was fatally injured. So far as can be learned, he was working on a way freight and while making a switch on a side track at Walworth, was caught between the humpers and his body horribly crushed at the hips.

Medical assistance was secured at Walworth but it was decided that the only hope of saving Helms' life would be to place him in a hospital. Accordingly he was placed in a caboose in which an extra engine was coupled and a rapid run made to this city. Upon arriving here at 1:05 this afternoon, the injured man was taken to the baggage room and Dr. Nuzum together with a physician did all that was possible to relieve his sufferings. In spite of every effort, however, he died at 1:25 before he could be taken to the hospital and his body was taken to Kimball's undertaking rooms. His parents were notified and arrived this afternoon to make arrangements for the disposal of the body.

William Helms, who was about twenty-two years old, lived in this city with his parents for nearly six years and attended the public schools. After leaving school, he was employed for some time in the job department of The Gazette and later took a position as caller at the St. Paul round house. About three years ago he secured a position as brakeman and worked for a time on the Chicago and Milwaukee Division of the St. Paul, later changing to the Racine and Southwestern.

About five years ago Helms' parents moved to Rockford and he accompanied them. Since that time he has made his home in that city but has been in this city on numerous occasions when his work brought him as far as Janesville. His father and mother, one brother, Joseph, and four sisters, Rachel, Anna, Gladys and Alice Helms survive him.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

E. H. RANSOM.

I wish to announce at this time my candidacy for the office of sheriff of Rock county on the Republican ticket at the coming primary election which takes place in September next. My friends have been insistent that I again make the campaign and looking back at the results of the past few elections I feel that there are many voters who will tender their support in my cause. I believe there is little need for introduction to the people of Rock county other than to say that I have been a resident of La Prairie all my life and to also say that should you see fit to favor me with nomination and election I shall devote my best energies to the conduct of the office to the satisfaction of the public.

A Democratic Prescher.

A good story is told of a "country gentleman" who, for the first time, heard an Episcopal clergyman preach. He had read much of the aristocracy and pride of the church, and when he returned home he was asked if the people were "stuck up." "Bah, not!" replied he. "Why, the minister actually preached in his shirt sleeves!" Judge.

KINDERGARTEN HAS PLEASING CLOSING

Jefferson School Little People Shower Their Teacher, Miss Emma MacLean, Who is to Be Married.

While today is not really the last day of school for the pupils of the Jefferson kindergarten, still they had a closing exercise that was both novel and unique. Miss Emma MacLean, who has been assistant in this department for some time past and who is much beloved by her little charges, is to be married during the coming summer and at the suggestion of Miss Mary Jacobs, the principal, she was tendered a shower by the little people. It was all a surprise to Miss MacLean and the array of presents, with its tin cups, egg-beaters, pin cushions, cups and saucers showed the love and affection of her little friends. Ice cream and cake was also a part of the morning's entertainment which added to the gaiety of the real shower, the first that any of the little people had ever taken part in.

GIVES FIGURES IN RISK DEAL.

Insurance Examiner Presents Report Ordered by Commissioner Potter.

Rock Island, Ill., June 16.—The star witness of the insurance investigation was heard when Lucius P. Potter, examiner for the state insurance department, was a witness. He is said to have given evidence sufficient to convict every man involved in the looking of the American Home Circle and Fraternal Tribunes, and evidence enough to convict Miss Margaret Melvyn of Auburn, who was a witness here, of perjury. He produced evidence to show enormous sums misappropriated and unaccounted for, and presented a report of an examination of the affairs of the Home Circle and Tribunes before, during, and after the time of merger between the two societies. The examination was made at the instance of Fred W. Potter, insurance commissioner.

According to the report the receipts during the time of the merger were $250,000 and this is said to be practically unaccounted for, the only attempt to account for it is said to be in fat salaries, unreasonable expense charges and big fees for deputy services. Such charges as these are declared to merely cover the misappropriation of the funds.

AMERICANS CAUGHT IN FLOOD.

High Waters Surround Visitors at Oberammergau.

Munich, Bavaria, June 16.—Oberammergau, the scene of the Passion Play, is cut off from railway communication with outside points by the flood that has invaded the district. Of the 600 strangers in the place to witness the sacred performance, 300 are Americans. It is believed, however, that these are in no danger, as the hotels are on high ground. The lower streets are filled with water.

Cologne, Germany, June 16.—Stories of death and the sufferings of the survivors are brought by refugees from the flooded valley of the Ahr. The waters are rapidly subsiding, but while at their height they wrought frightful damage. Several villages on the banks of the River Ahr were literally washed away. Houses collapsing buried their occupants beneath the flood. So strong was the current that it even swept away locomotives and steam road rollers.

Constantinople, June 16.—Dispatches received here say that floods, have swept over the province of Erzerum, Turkish Armenia. Half the town of Hasekakaleh has been wiped out by the torrents, hundreds of persons being drowned.

ASKS SLEEPING CAR REHEARING.

Pullman Company to Submit Argument to Interstate Board.

Washington, June 16.—Application has been made to the interstate commerce commission by the Pullman company and the Great Northern railroad for a rehearing of the cases in which the commission ordered a reduction of sleeping-car rates. The defendants assert that they have now and important evidence bearing upon the matters in issue. The commission has notified all parties to the proceedings that it will hear oral arguments in this city next Friday for and against the question of a rehearing of the cases.

A Social Animal.

The Intellectual Eater.

The truly intellectual eater never asks the price of his victuals. His orders are frosty, and as his fancy dictates, of wild duck, terrapin, pheasant, herring or venison, and after he has eaten as much as he wants and gone to sleep his secretary pays the bill, says the Baltimore Sun. He has no time for haggling. Every moment of his leisure is devoted to eating. His one regret is that he must stop now and then to get shaved, to vote, to kiss his wife, to spank his children, to discharge the thousand and one other, oppressive duties of the civilized man.

GRANDPA SCATTERGOOD.

The Ticklemouse

—and his Sleepyland Adventures

By Roy Rutherford Bailey with Davy and Dorfy

The Ticklewedding

"LET'S wait here till the other guests go in," said the Ticklemouse to Willy and the twins. Into the underground palace of Mr. and Mrs. Sharp Tooth—the richest of all the ticklemice—poured a steady stream of wedding guests, disappearing quickly under the awning. The four friends drew back into the shadows and waited.

"I don't believe," said the Mouse, scratching his head and looking doubtful, "it's any use trying to smuggle Davy and Dorfy in after all."

"Unless," said Willy, seeing how disappointed the twins looked, "we change them into mice again. Would you dare risk it, chilluns, after the scrape I got you into before?"

"Yes, oh, yes!" whispered the children. "We've never seen a ticklewedding—we'll be ever so careful to do just as you say. Please divide us again!" And so it happened that a few minutes later the four—all ticklemice now—marched into the flower-scented home of the bride, Sally Tooth.

"Lovely decorations, aren't they?" said the Ticklemouse to the Davymouse. "Kind of queer, I should call them—what are they?"

"Cattyp blossoms—very rare this time of year. Ah, good evening, Mrs. Tooth—how charming you are looking!" The Mouse bowed low before the bride's mother and the rest did the same.

"Thank you, Tickletooth. What sweet little children! Twins? Ah, yes, I see, they are. Our flower-girl has disappeared—can't you lend us these children to scatter cattyp garlands before the bride?"

"Certainly, Mrs. Tooth," The Mouse turned and whispered to the twins. "Go with her, my dears, and do just as she says. It's quite an honor, for they are one of our best families. Careful, now."

When the parson asked for the ring, Willy Wishmouse gravely took a small rubber band out of his Tam o' Shanter and handed it to the groom. "Ticklemice wedding rings are very elastic," explained the Ticklemouse to the twins.

"And now," finished the parson, solemnly, "I pronounce them Tooth and Nail!" and everybody rushed up to tickle the bride, who stood smiling beneath a huge wedding-bell to receive their good wishes.

And the wedding feast—was there ever a supper like that before? Davy and Dorfy thought not, and rejoiced that they were mice so they could enjoy it to the full. Every course was some special miceland delicacy, regardless of expense.

At last came a fat mouse-waiter, proudly bearing a huge wedding cake. The guests burst out cheering at the sight, for it was made in the shape of a big round mousetrap, with a chocolate mouse caught fast in each of the trap's round doors. Each guest pulled out one, finding it filled with delicious cheesesticks—all but Willy.

"Why didn't you tell them yours was empty?" asked Davy, on the way home. "Because I saw Sally steal 'em just before the wedding march," said Willy, "and I didn't want to give the bride away!"

High and clear rose the strains of the Miceland Wedding March, and the Davymouse and the Dorfymouse came down the stairs, strewing cattyp blossoms before the bride, who blushed prettily under her dainty cheesecloth veil.

Timber Too Widely Scattered.

While there is an abundance of suitable timber in Brazil, it is difficult to find many districts where the trees suitable for lumber are close enough together for profitable work. Transportation causes much difficulty, often making it impossible to transport logs to a mill or lumber to a market.

Blame Apprenticeship System.

Lack of a proper apprenticeship system for training boys 14 to 20 years of age in the different trades is widely believed in England to be responsible in a large degree for the "casual labor," lack of employment and poverty of thousands of men now afflicting the united kingdom.

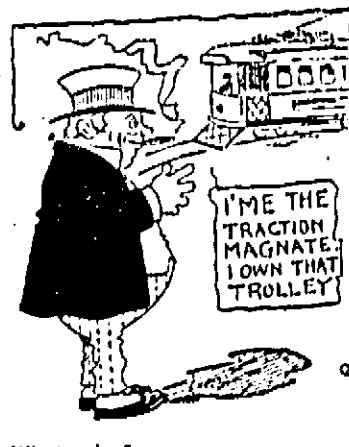

The Ideal Meal.

The ideal meal consists of bread, butter, and cheese, according to Dr. J. E. Squire, who delivered a lecture to the British National Health society. "These foods," he said, "contain all the elements necessary for the proper working of the body, and thus form a complete meal."

Don't Look For Health In The Bottom of a Medicine Bottle

THE CHIROPRACTOR SAYS IT ISN'T THERE—HE REMOVES THE CAUSE OF DISEASE—THE ONLY METHOD OF MAKING YOU WELL.

It's pure folly to look for health at the bottom of a medicine bottle. It isn't there.

Health—Good health—can be had only by removing the cause of ill health. Simply covering up a fire doesn't put it out—it for a long time may smoulder and burst out into flame again. So with drug-treated sickness—you may dope yourself for months and believe that you are curing disease but it's there and nothing less than an absolute removal of the cause will stop disease.

That's what I do with my (Kiropractic) Adjustment—remove—yes, absolutely, cause of disease—and that makes sick people well. Hundreds of sick ones dragging out a miserable, wretched existence, suffering and hopeless, have been restored to health by my Chiropractic adjustment. Investigate this science and be one of the well ones. No medicine, no cutting, no mystery; simply common sense—that's all.

LEAGUE ENTERS THE SEMI PRO. CLASSES

Commercial Baseball Teams Will Charge Admission to Their Games in Future.

From the action taken by the five teams constituting the Commercial League last evening, the local ball players will enter the semi-professional class and will also a double header each Saturday afternoon at their new park, formerly the Y. M. C. A. grounds, at which an admission fee will be charged.

This was the decision reached after much discussion and it was decided that the prices should be twenty-five cents for men, ten cents for children, with ladies free, the new order of affairs to start on Saturday next when the team from the Wooden Mills plays the Y. M. C. A. at 1:30, followed by the Parker Park and Lewis Knitting company's game immediately afterwards.

It marks an innovation in local baseball circles and if the proposition of Charles Conrad, president of the league, is accepted, may ultimately lead to the permanent owning of the ball park by the league. Mr. Conrad recently purchased the grounds from the Y. M. C. A., has added to the grounds so that 1,500 spectators can be seated, and otherwise improved the grounds. Mr. Conrad makes the offer to the league that they purchase the park from him, he is to take the receipts of the games on July 4th as part payment and a mortgage for the value of the park as security.

This was one of the propositions acted upon last evening and the officers of the league will take the matter up with the owners of the factories having teams in the league today for ultimate decision.

All games of the league are to be played in the park in the future and the money raised will be used to defray the necessary expenses of the league which are much heavier this year than last when it was a six team league and just starting.

Vacancies Caused by Resignation of Last Year's Instructors Have All Been Filled.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Monroe, Wis., June 16.—Three high school assistants and a grade teacher have been hired by the board of education to fill vacancies caused by the resignation of last year's teachers. Miss Helen Dodge has been engaged to fill the vacancy in the grade caused by the resignation of Miss Helen Freeman, who has accepted a position in her home town, Whitewater. There is still one vacancy in the high school which must be filled.

New Bank Assured.

A new bank for Monroe is now said to be an assured fact. Though the projectors of the institution are keeping things under cover, preparations are rapidly going on for the organization for the purpose of engaging in the banking business. The bank will be probably ready for business in sixty days. The company has in view a capital stock of $50,000 with a $25,000 mortgage loan company as an auxiliary. The building at the southeast corner of the square, now in the control of some of the projectors, will be used as a bank building. Confer De Boos Wedding.

County Prohibitionists Meet.

Twenty delegates were chosen at the county prohibition meeting held here in the court house, to represent the county at the state prohibition convention which will be held in Madison July 20-21. A county committee, consisting of Sam Isely, of Monroeville, Mr. Atkinson, of Albany, and Sidney Stude, of Broadway, were selected to choose a ticket for the primary election. J. L. Sizor, of Watworth county, delivered an eloquent and inspiring temperance address and the Epworth Society, of Epworth, Wis., furnished the music for the evening.

What A Man Owe to the Town He Lives In.

There are many manufacturers in this town to whom some part of it. He may own only enough furniture to call for his paying taxes but he should own something. There never was a fully minded man who owned so small a part of it as that dared to speak of his town as "it." His town always is "our town." He is vitally interested in his town, he is willing to give a part of his time to help make "our town" better and bigger. The Janesville Industrial and Commercial Club through its executive committee have started a little plan of arousing more interest in Janesville. This plan is a slogan contest. Every progressive citizen in the country and most of the greater manufacturers have a slogan that to just mention the slogan brings to your mind at once the name of the manufacturer and his product. It is good publicity for them to have a widely known slogan. It is the best sort of publicity for this town if they can get a good slogan that will make this city stand out as a big shining spot on the map. There is a coupon printed in another part of this paper. Think of a slogan and get your boy or girl to send it in to the Secretary's office. You are all partners—let us all work together—now for a greater and better known Janesville.

There are many manufacturers in this city now who are doing great things for Janesville, through the advertising they are sending out to magazines and newspapers all over the country. These men are spreading the fame of Janesville. These men are doing much towards building up this city and by this building up they are doing a share towards making every bit of property more valuable, all working together we all will profit and prosper that much faster. Now all together, let's be for Janesville all the time.

FEED CHILDREN

On Properly Selected Food, It Pays Big Dividends.

If parents will give just a little intelligent thought to the feeding of their children the difference in the health of the little folks will pay many times over for the small trouble. A mother writes saying: "Our children are all so much better and stronger than they were before we made a change in the character of the food. We have quit using potatoes three times a day with coffee and so much meat."

"Now we give the little folks some fruit, either fresh stewed, or canned, some Grape-Nuts with cream, occasionally some soft boiled eggs, and some Postum for breakfast and supper. Then for dinner they have some meat and vegetables."

"It would be hard to realize the change in the children, they have grown so sturdy and strong, and we attribute this change to the food alone, that I understand, exist in Grape-Nuts and Postum."

A short time ago my baby was teething and had a great deal of stomach and bowel trouble. Nothing seemed to agree with him until I tried Grape-Nuts softened and mixed with rich milk and he improved rapidly and kept sturdy and well."

Read "The Road to Wellville," found in pkgs. "There's a Reason." Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE EVANSVILLE "Y"

Over One Hundred Guests at Feast Held Tuesday Evening, Asst. State Secretary Presiding.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Evansville, June 15.—There were something over one hundred present at the Y. M. C. A. banquet last evening, and those in attendance report having had a most enjoyable time. The decorations of the banquet room were in charge of Mrs. Exzell and she was ably assisted by Messrs. O. B. Anderson and Philip Pearsall, and the result of their work was unusually pretty and effective. In honor of Flag Day the color scheme was in red, white and blue and the stars and stripes were in evidence everywhere. The tables were made attractive by the use of red and white flowers and ferns, and both the spread and the serving reflected credit on the ladies who did this part of the work. Mr. Exzell's orchestra of sixteen pieces rendered some very good music during the supper hour. Charles Puchler, assistant state secretary of the association, acted as toastmaster and responses were made by the following gentlemen: J. C. Kline and Dr. Richards of Janesville; Mr. Steiner, secretary of the Beloit Y. M. C. A.; Edwin Meyers and Mr. Jorgenson, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Puchler then gave the address of the evening. All were interested and enthusiastic speakers and the banquet was a success. The Y. M. C. A. and its work. O. B. Anderson, secretary of the local "Y" was then called on for a speech and responded in a happy vein and also gave his annual report. The report showed that the organization is now entirely out of debt and have completed a very successful year's work. A delightful feature of the evening's entertainment was the singing by the quartet, composed of Dr. Richards and sons, J. C. Kline and Mr. Puchler. There will be no Sunday afternoon meetings at the "Y" during the summer months. Secretary Anderson will take a few days recreation at Lake Kegonsa with a party of young men, and will then spend a short time at his home in Beloit before going to Lake Geneva where he will attend a summer school for physical directors and secretaries. From there he goes to Phantom, Wis., where he will assist in taking charge of the Boys' State camp for six weeks. Mr. Anderson is very grateful to the citizens for their co-operation and assistance and our people fully recognize and appreciate the excellent work he has done here in building up the Y. M. C. A., and creating a broader interest in the work. As his labors here have given the best of satisfaction it is much to be hoped that he will return here another year, although he has had dartering offers from other places.

Claude Kegan has just completed his first year of study at Calgate university, N. Y., and has accepted the position of development chemist at Manila. He will leave for the Philippines some time in August and will probably spend a few days at his home here enroute.

Dr. A. P. Bang returned Monday evening from St. Paul and is the guest of his sister, Mrs. George Reed.

Miss Laveria Gillies goes to Madison, Saturday, to attend the annual banquet of the Phi Beta Theta fraternity of the U. W.

Robert Antes, Everett Van Patten, Wesley Langsamak, Dean Spencer, and Earl Fellows go to Lake Kegonsa Thursday morning to enjoy a week of fishing and camp life.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Lyons arrived from Marquette, Wis., Saturday, to visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carpenter. Mr. Lyons will be here for a longer visit.

Miss Mada Stevens returned yesterday from Antigo where she has been teaching Latin in the high school. She expects to go back next year.

Mrs. E. P. Tuille and daughters, Jessie and Angie, are in Pardeeville, Wis., to spend two or three weeks with their son and brother, Harry Tuille.

The Optimist's Corner

Daily Helps to Health and Happiness

By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A. M., M. D.

Don't become a moral weakling and an intellectual dwarf by constantly running to others for advice, but dare to follow your own independent judgment. Take chances. Don't feel that you must always be bolstered up by certainty. Let doubts and difficulties serve you as a sort of mental spring board by which to vault across the gulf of failure on to the sure, solid ground of full success.

Strive to be a creator, rather than an inheritor—to give, rather than to borrow. Instead of wielding the rusted sword of your parents or grandparents, forge your own weapons and fight your own battles. Instead of being one of the fabled potentialities, of which the world is so full—one of the subjective heroes, who always might, could, would, or should do great things, but whose not doing great things is what nobody can understand—be in the imperative mood, and do that of which your talents are indicative. Learn this lesson of self-reliance and act on it, and you will discover within yourself the elements of success, honor and happiness.

The Lisbon Earthquake.

The Lisbon earthquake of 1775 is clearly entitled to rank among the appalling disasters of history. As to the destructiveness in comparison with the recent calamity in Sicily, it may be said that in the Lisbon earthquake there perished about 65,000 people. The loss from the Messina disaster has not as yet been fully agreed upon, but in all probability it did not greatly exceed that of 1775. The property loss in the Portuguese city was probably in excess of that which took place in Messina, since Lisbon was much richer than was the Italian city.

Manners of the Past.
Count Baldassare Castiglione wrote of manners in sixteenth century Italy: "Discourse of love is used by every gentleman . . . not only when impelled by passion, but also merely to do honor to the lady with whom he speaks. The pretense of loving her is at any rate a testimony to her worthiness to be loved. She, on her part, will for a time seem to fall to understand, and anon will take it all as a merry jest."

Linguistic Policemen.
There are at present on duty in the main thoroughfares of Paris 21 policemen who speak English, also who speak German and six who speak Spanish, and their usefulness has been clearly demonstrated.

Time's Changes.
When the "old schoolmays" studied geography they were familiar with a blank space on the map known as the Great American Desert, a hopeless region. Now the best apples in the United States are raised there.

THE COURAGE of CAPTAIN PLUM

D. JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD
ILLUSTRATIONS BY MAGNUS KETNER

CHAPTER I.

The Two Oaths.

On an afternoon in the early summer of 1890 Capt. Nathaniel Plum, master and owner of the sloop Typhoon, was engaged in nothing more important than the snuffing of an enormous pipe. Clouds of strongly colored smoke, tinted with the lights of the setting sun, had risen above his head in unremitting volumes for the last half hour. There was infinite contentment in his face, notwithstanding the fact that he had been meditating on a subject that was not altogether pleasant. But Captain Plum was, in a way, a philosopher, though one would not have guessed this fact from his appearance. He was, in the first place, a young man, not more than eight or nine and twenty, and his strong, rather thin face, tanned by exposure to the sea, was just now lighted up by eyes that shone with an unbounded good humor which any instant might take the form of laughter.

At the present time Captain Plum's vision was confined to one direction, which carried his gaze out over Lake Michigan. Earlier in the day he had been able to discern the hazy outline of the Michigan wilderness 20 miles to the eastward. Straight ahead, shooting up rugged and sharp in the red light of the day's end, were two islands.

Without a moment's hesitation he set out on the trail of Captain Plum. A quarter of a mile down the path he overtook the object of his pursuit. "Ah, how do you do, sir?" he greeted as the younger man turned about upon hearing his approach. "A mighty tight pace you're setting for an old man, sir!" He broke into a laugh that was not altogether unpleasant, and boldly held out a hand. "We've been expecting you, but—not in this way. I hope there's nothing wrong?"

Captain Plum had accepted the proffered hand. Its coldness and the singular appearance of the old man who had come like an apparition chilled him. In a moment, however, it occurred to him that he was a victim of mistaken identity. As far as he knew there was no one on Beaver Island who was expecting him. To the best of his knowledge he was a fool for being there. His crew aboard the sloop had agreed upon that point with extreme vehemence and to a man had attempted to dissuade him from the mad project upon which he was launching himself among the Mormons in their island stronghold. All this came to him while the little old man was looking up into his face, chuckling, and shaking his head as if he were one of the most important and most greatly to be desired personages in the world.

"Hope there's nothing wrong, Capt'n?" he repeated.

"Right as a trivet here, dad," replied the young man, dropping the cold hand that still persisted in clinging to his.

The last rim of the sun had fallen below the Michigan wilderness and in the rapidly increasing gloom the sloop was becoming indistinguishable. Captain Plum looked at his watch. He must still wait a little longer before setting out upon the adventure that had brought him to this isolated spot. He rested his head against the rock, and thought. He had been thinking for hours. Back in the thicket he heard the prowling of some small animal. There came the sleepy chirp of a bird and the rustling of dried vines settling for the night. A strange stillness hovered about him, and with it there came over him a loneliness that was chilling, a loneliness that made him homesick. It was a new and unpleasant sensation to Captain Plum. He could not remember just when he had experienced it before; that is, if he dated the present from two weeks ago tonight. "It was then that the letter had been handed to him in Chicago, and it had been a weight upon his soul and a prick to his conscience ever since. Once or twice he had made up his mind to destroy it, but each time he had repented at the last moment. In a sudden revulsion at his weakness he pulled himself together, crumpled the dirty missive into a ball and flung it out upon the white rim of beach.

At this action there came a quick movement in the dense wall of verdure behind him. Noiselessly the tangle of vines separated and a head thrust itself out in time to see the bit of paper fall short of the water's edge. Then the head shot back as swiftly and as silently as a serpent's. Perhaps Captain Plum heard the glinting chuckle that followed the movement. If so he thought it only some night bird in the brush.

"Ho! ho!" he exclaimed, with some return of his old cheer, "it's about time we were starting!" He jumped to his feet and began brushing the sand from his clothes. When he had done, walked out upon the rim of beach and stretched himself until his arm bones cracked.

Again the hidden head shot forth from its concealment. A sudden turn and Captain Plum would certainly have been startled. For it was a weird object, this spying head; its face dead white against the dense green of the verdure, with shocks of long white hair hanging down on each side, framing between them a pair of eyes that gleamed from cavernous sockets, like black glowing beads. There was unmistakable fear, a tense anxiety in those glittering eyes as Captain Plum walked toward the paper, but when he paused and stretched himself, the sole of his boot carelessly trampling the discarded letter, the head disappeared again and there came another satiated bird-like chuckle from the gloom of the thicket.

Captain Plum now put his foot down, but it came to conceal the weapon in his belt, and walked along the narrow, water-worn that crept like a wardly he was wondering when his feet would touch bottom. Thus far he had succeeded in getting but a single grip on the situation. Somebody was expected at Beaver Island with powder and balls and guns. Well, he had a certain quantity of these materials aboard his sloop, and it he could make an agreeable bargain—

The old man interrupted the plan that was slowly forming itself in Captain Plum's puzzled brain.

"It's the price, eh?" he laughed shrewdly. "You want to see the color of the gold before you land the goods. I'll show it to you. I'll pay you the whole sum tonight. Then you'll take the stuff where I tell you to. Eh? Isn't that so?" He darted ahead of Captain Plum with a quick alert movement. "Will you please follow me, sir?"

For an instant Captain Plum's impulse was to hold back. In that instant it suddenly occurred to him that he was lending himself to a rank impostor. At the same time he was filled with a desire to go deeper into the adventure, and his blood thrilled with the thought of what it might hold for him.

"Are you coming, sir?"

The little old man had stopped a dozen paces away and turned expectantly.

"I tell you again that you've got the wrong man, dad!"

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, June 16, 1870.—Jottings.—George R. Peck of this city, is to deliver an oration at Watertown on the 4th of July.

At an early hour this morning Chas. Roun, the owner of the butcher shop on the Milwaukee street bridge, died after an exceedingly brief illness.

The Mutuals from this city leave tomorrow afternoon for Whitewater, to play the first games of the series with the Athletics. The clubs are very evenly matched and a splendid game may be expected.

Several physicians from this city have gone to Milwaukee to attend the annual meeting of the State Medical society which is held there this week.

A pickerel thirty-four inches in length and weighing twelve pounds was taken from Rock river by a lad yesterday. Guess he pulled hard.

A couple of gentlemen of this city—Messrs. M. C. Smith and Dr. Horne—took an extended ride through the western part of this county yesterday, in order to satisfy themselves by observation and by inquiry, as to the condition of the crops. They traversed a distance of seventy miles, and they give it as their opinion from what they learned and what they saw, that the crops, generally, are in good condition. While the grass crop will be light, grain crops well, especially when the summer dry weather is considered, and with a fair amount of rain from this time until harvest the yield will be good.

Gladness comes with a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—rightly directed and assisted by the pleasant laxative remedy Syrup of Figs and Elixr of Senna.

Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

DAILY DIET HINTS
By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.

BANANA AS MONO-DIET.

Bananas are commonly regarded as indigestible. They appear to be indigestible only because they are not thoroughly masticated, because they are mixed with incompatible foods, especially meats, and because they are eaten unripe by many. No substantial food is more digestible than the banana when properly eaten. An exclusive diet of banana for thirty days proved that they give great strength and endurance. Because containing little protein, and that unaccompanied by heat and fully assimilated, the injurious effect of albuminoid poisoning is avoided; and being easily digested, the nervous energy ordinarily consumed in digestion is saved for work; and the fruit sugar, which is more than 80 per cent. of the herb (the banana is not strictly speaking a fruit) supplies the essential requirement of muscular energy. With two table-spoonfuls of olive oil daily it makes an excellent mono-diet. A young man training under my direction on this diet runs ten miles in an hour without the slightest exhaustion. The value of the banana is not yet fully recognized, although its consumption is steadily increasing.

BILLION DOLLAR DEAL IS UNDER FEDERAL FIRE

Officials of the United Wireless Company Arrested for Misuse of Mails.

New York, June 16.—Charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes, Christopher C. Wilson, president of the $20,000,000 United Wireless Telegraph company; Samuel S. Bogart, its vice-president, and William M. Tompkins, who had charge of selling its stock to the public, were arrested on complaint of United States postoffice inspectors. Wilson was released under $25,000 bail and Bogart under $10,000 bail, while Tompkins was sent to the Tombs in default of $10,000 bail.

Chief Postoffice Inspector Mayer charges the officials with a gigantic stock-manipulation plan, declaring that the capital of the company, whose assets were about $400,000, had been increased by an interchange of securities and that the price of these shares had been raised arbitrarily to such large amounts that the company at this time had an apparent stock-market value of $1,000,000,000.

Mr. Mayer states that one of the officers has cleaned up $5,000,000. He says there are 28,000 stockholders throughout the country who have placed their money with the company on the representation of its officers that it had a surplus of nearly $7,000,000, when as a matter of fact the company was failing to make its operating expenses.

Mr. Mayer further states that the inside officers of the company were privileged to sell their stock while outsiders were required to accept stock certificates stamped "not transferable until February 11, 1911."

Inspector O'Brien seized the books and papers of the company as evidence in the case. The complainant named in the charge on which the arrests were made is Michael C. O'Brien of Waterbury, Conn.

TO BOOM KNOX FOR GOVERNOR.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 16.—The name of Secretary of State Knox will be presented to the Republican state convention next Wednesday as a candidate for governor. In a statement Mayor W. A. Mingo of this city said that Mr. Knox's name has been suggested from so many sources within a few days that the Allegheny county delegates to the convention have crystallized on the secretary as a candidate.

Governor's Wife in Runaway.

Sacramento, Cal., June 16.—Mrs. James Gillett, wife of Governor Gillett, narrowly escaped being killed in a runaway. The coachman was thrown from his seat and severely hurt, while the carriage with Mrs. Gillett clinging to the seat turned over twice. She was badly bruised.

Maine Democrat Nominated.

Augusta, Me., June 16.—At the biennial Democratic state convention here Frederick W. Planted, mayor of Augusta, was named for governor on the first ballot.

BALLOON SOARS OFF WITH BOY.

Spectators Are Horror-Stricken When Craft Breaks Moorings.

Chillicothe, O., June 16.—Bursting away from its moorings the dirigible balloon belonging to Cromwell Dixon of Columbus, O., soared to an altitude of half a mile above this city, carrying with it Freddy Meyers, ten years old, while thousands of horrified spectators looked on.

The balloon drifted five miles to the westward, when the hydrogen gas became partially exhausted and it slowly came toward the earth.

The boy had crawled out to the extreme end of the frame work opposite to that on which the engine is situated, and when within ten feet of the ground dropped safely. The balloon arose when relieved of the weight and again soared to a great height and was last seen traveling westward.

An accident happened when one of the guy ropes holding the balloon broke while the lad was in the rigging.

COLLEGE GOLDEN JUBILEE ENDS.

Augustana Synod Protestants Against Dancing, Particularly in Schools.

Rock Island, Ill., June 16.—Augustana synod and college closed the ten days' fiftieth jubilee celebration, the latter half of which has been given over mainly to the business of the synod.

A resolution was adopted protesting against dancing, particularly in public schools, "believing it to be wrong in principle to use public money for such purposes and for paid servants of the public in their official capacity to act as instructors in dancing."

Another resolution denounced proselyting of Mormons among Swedish immigrants.

Think of Last Summer--

You can remember days when the heat inside your kitchen was so great you could hardly bear it. With the right stove you would have made a better hostess. Save your health. Don't put up with the drudgery of a coal range. You can have a clean, cool, pleasant kitchen. The does away with all drudgery of cooking. Why should you be a slave to a coal range when you can have an Oil Cook-Stove that is cheaper than coal, cleaner than coal, doesn't "smell," doesn't smoke, lights instantly, can be put out instantly, leaves no ashes, and doesn't heat the kitchen. With one of these stoves you can boil, bake or roast the most elaborate dinner. You can change from a slow to a quick fire, or the other way about, by simply turning a wick. Apply a match, and instantly the heat from an intense blue flame shoots upward through the turquoise-blue enamel chimneys to the bottom of pot, kettle or oven—but nowhere else. The stove has every convenience that can be thought of. Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping food and dishes hot, drop shelves to hold coffee or teapots, towel rack; in fact every convenience possible.

New Perfection
WICKLESS FLAME

The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 3 and 4 burner stove can be had with or without Cabinet.

TO THE VOTERS OF ROCK COUNTY:

I have always voted the straight Republican ticket so far as National politics were concerned, but have been non-partisan in regard to local politics. I stand for principle and the man rather than party.

I belong to no political faction or clique. I am after the office because I want it, and if elected I will try to work for the best interests of the office and all connected with it. If you, after looking up my reputation and character, can conscientiously support me at the primaries I shall appreciate the same very much, but if you are at all in doubt as to my ability or fitness for the office, I shall thank you to vote for the candidate you think best fitted for the same, thereby doing your duty to yourself and the county.

Wisconsin Cheap Land and Mild Climate
Win Settlers

Opening of Round Lake Country Brings Rush of Landseekers.

The rush to the Round Lake Country of Wisconsin, where 150,000 acres of the farm land in Sawyer County have been released in settlement by the big lumber interests, is becoming a veritable stampede of eager homeseekers. Farmers in the Middle and Southern States have come to their senses on the question of Wisconsin climate. The government reports have indicated the fact that the Wisconsin winters are mild. There is only 5 degrees difference in the average annual temperatures between St. Paul and Leavenworth, Kan. The average annual temperature in the United States is shown by these official figures: St. Paul, 42 deg.; Leavenworth, Kan., 51 deg.; St. Louis, 52 deg.; Dallas, 53 deg.; Los Angeles, 54 deg.; Austin, Tex., 57 deg. The American Immigration Co. of Chicago Falls, Wis., is selling this vast body of rich land at $5.00 a 400 per acre.

A man with a few hundred dollars can secure title to his farm and pay the balance in five or ten annual installments, out of the crops. For books, maps and full particulars address:

THE OLD SPACIOUS CLOSET.

The Roomy Old Closet, Which Fond Recollection Presents to the City Resident.

"Rarely indeed does Mrs. Billups indulge in mournful reminiscences," said Mr. Billups. "Cheerfulness is her keynote and her courage never fails; but this morning when she was looking for something in a trunk which for lack of closet space she keeps in her room, she said to me: 'Ezra, do you remember the closet I had in my room when we lived in So and So?'" And I said I did.

"If I should put this trunk in that closet," said Mrs. Billups, "I couldn't shut the door."

"To that proposition I assented."

"But you could put this trunk in that closet," Mrs. Billups continued, "and still have plenty of room to walk around it there to get at the things hanging on the walls."

"I remembered," and Mrs. Billups almost groaned.

"We would not go back to the old chicken bucket, we'd rather have the water laid on; we wouldn't want again those old time freezing rooms, we like our rooms better warmed; but ah, those old time closets! Those grand old closets, as big as a present day room!"

The Happy Girl.

No trait of a girl's character is more prized than a sweet and happy disposition. It makes the home life bright, it smooths away the little roughnesses, and it is like a ray of sunshine that brightens the darkest corners and drives away discontent and gloom. The happy girl makes the happy and contented wife, who will bring her girlhood's endearing qualities to make fresh sunshine in her new home.—Home Notes.
